Jim Chodzko

Overview

Prior to becoming a full time neutral in 2000, Mr. Chodzko spent 23 years as a civil litigator. His practice was devoted to representation of entities and individuals involved in, but not limited to insurance coverage, legal malpractice, serious personal injury, wrongful death, products liability, business, construction defect, design professional and environmental claims throughout his legal career. Mr. Chodzko has gained extensive trial experience representing property owners, developers, design professionals, subcontractors, insiders and insurers, and tried over 55 cases to verdict before juries, as well as numerous bench trials, arbitrations, and administrative hearings. He is well recognized for his knowledge and expertise in matters involving insurance coverage issues. He has also served as an arbitrator on business disputes, legal malpractice claims, contract disputes and construction claims. One attorney noted, "To go along with his great demeanor and overall sense of fairness, he is extremely professional, knowledgeable, and grasps the issues quickly." Many attorneys concur about his great demeanor and overall sense of fairness.
